Snapshot at JobsNet Data

The JobsNet database captured demand and supply patterns across the country with the vacancies and jobseekers in the 1st quarter of 2006, through the data, which flowed in to JobsNet. The chart indicates the profile of the jobseekers registered in different job categories and the types of vacancies received at JobsNet in the same categories. The demand-supply disparities are evident in most areas except in the categories of Professionals and Sales/Marketing related job categories.
